

I am excited to apply for the part-time position at Topicus. As a second-year Bachelor's student in Business Information Technology at the University of Twente, I am eager to contribute my growing technical expertise and enthusiasm for IT to a company that values impactful and innovative solutions.

Through my academic journey and hands-on projects, such as developing backend systems using Java Spring Boot and frontend applications with React and TypeScript, I have gained practical experience in software development and agile methodologies. My collaborative work on projects like TicketSnap and GymMate has not only enhanced my technical skills but also strengthened my ability to work in dynamic team environments. I am particularly drawn to the societal impact of Topicus' applications across domains like education, healthcare, and finance, and I am eager to contribute to meaningful projects that make a difference.

I appreciate the flexibility offered by this role, allowing me to balance work with my studies. I am available to work up to 16 hours a week. I am confident that this position will enable me to apply my knowledge, learn from experienced colleagues, and grow as a developer while contributing to Topicus' mission.

Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to the opportunity to discuss how my skills and interests align with the goals of Topicus.

Kind regards,
Pavlo Hrechko
